Evan:

The Advanced Concepts Staff's research looks pretty good and touches upon some very fascinating topics. I trust that all efforts are coordinated in an advisory fashion with potential users, i.e., "Forecasting the Emergence of Competitive Industries" would be of high interest to OGI/DDI and OGI should be informed as progress is made in this research.

I found the attached quite interesting and I thought you might enjoy perusing it. The document is a listing of various recent research activities of the Advanced Concepts Staff of ORD. Some of the activities look more promising than others. In any event, this package gives you a quick reading of what that small staff is doing.
